Frozen ground, melting snow and rain all combined last Tuesday to create a flash flood that many people are saying is the worst they have ever seen in the Highlands. The downpour that lasted for a full day washed out dozens of roads, including a section of Highway 35 at Dorset, Highway 503 between Norland and Kinmount and Highway 118 near West Guilford. In addition to the road damage, hundreds of houses had serious flooding problems. This section of washed out road off the East Line in Snowdon Township is typical of the damage experienced throughout the county.

HCSA seeks backing for central, two lane trail loop

The Haliburton County Snowmobile Association has delivered on its promise to bring more winter business to the Highlands. Now the association wants the business community to back its effort in a major upgrading of the area's snowmobile trails.

That was the message delivered Friday night to a mixed group of 80 merchants, snowmobile enthusiasts and politicians at the Pinestone Inn. The meeting had been called by the HCSA to outline the organization's success over the past ten years, and to lay out an ambitious plan of development for the future.

The plan calls for an eight foot wide, 128 mile, corridor loop in the central portion of the county, servicing numerous feeder trails branching off from the central route. The eight foot wide corridor would allow two-way traffic and provide quick access to other areas of the county. The key to the new loop trail system would be that the entire length would be bull-dozed to provide a smooth, even base on which the association's groomers could construct a trail.

The meeting was told that under present conditions, the machinery needs at least 18 inches of snow to provide a workable surface for grooming. With a flat, bull-dozed base, the groomers could start working with as little as six inches of snow, thereby expanding the snowmobiling season and answering the demands of riders who, at the start of the winter, see a fresh fall of snow and wonder why the HCSA hasn't started to make trails. As HCSA president Peter Overington and spokesman Mark

Lester told the meeting, last season the association attempted to groom the trails with less than 18 inches of snow. "The result was $8000 worth of repairs to the groomers and lost time while the machines were in the garage."

The key to the introduction of the corridor loop for next season is a major infusion of money from the local community, particularly the businesses and municipalities, Lester told the gathering. The association has estimated that $339,500 will be

Minden's industrial park is confirmed

More than 40 industrial lots will soon be available for sale by Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships now that the purchase of the former Clare Walker sawmill site has been confirmed.

Minden Reeve Ray Moore confirmed on Friday that owners Joan and Wally Bunn have agreed to sell the 97-acre parcel to the township at "much below the market value."

The site is located on Highway 121 East, near Highway 35. It has about 400 feet of frontage on the highway and will split up into industrial lots for diversified, small, clean, light industries that will be compatible with the area's main industry: tourism. The lots will vary in size from a half an acre up to five acres.

"Council shall proceed to develop the park as soon as the legal and financial arrangements can be completed," Moore said in a press statement. The land is now being dubbed the "Clare Walker Industrial Park."

Moore also noted that council hopes to extend the municipal water and sewer lines to the industrial park, which will also give residents of that area the opportunity to take advantage of the service. Heavy duty hydro, along with paved roads will enhance the area as well as bring in much-needed assessment, said the Reeve.

"We wish to thank Joan and Wally (Bunn) for their spirit, foresight and contribution to the community," said Moore. "They are a part of the growing number of 'positive thinkers' in our community, attempting to create job opportunities and keep our young folk near home."

Chamber fears cutbacks will hurt tourism industry

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce is concerned that area resorts will soon be feeling the effects of provincial and federal cutbacks in tourism-related programs.

The chamber was faced with two separate matters that will prove costly to this area because of government cutbacks during its monthly meeting last Thursday at the Dysart Township office. The first was the withdrawal of the Ontario Youth Employment Program (OYEP) and the second was the planned closing of all provincially run tourist information booths on Highway 401.

The chamber will be filing strong objections to both of these moves.

Chamber director Brian Watts told the board that, although no official notification has been sent to resorts, OYEP will not be available to Haliburton County resorts this summer. The program, which provides a $1.25 wage subsidy to employers, is used by most resorts in the county, said Watts. "I think we've all used it at one time or another," he said.

Tourism a low-profile portfolio: director

Although it is being withdrawn in Haliburton County, he said the subsidy is still available in northern Ontario communities and, for some reason, Muskoka.

Director Dave Stevens wondered why Muskoka would get the subsidy and not Haliburton. "We were classed as a depressed area not too long ago," he noted. And now that Haliburton is starting to progress, all the programs are being withdrawn.

The chamber will be writing to local MPP John Eakins, the Ministry of Skills Development and the county to protest the withdrawal of this program.

The Ministry of Tourism's proposal to close all tourist information booths on Highway 401 posed another dilemma for the board. The Central Ontario Travel Association (COTA) has been given the option of taking over the operation of four of these booths. However, every region of the association is being asked to kick in $1,000 and two summer students.

Following a lengthy discussion, the board decided it could not afford to give up two of its summer students. A resolution supporting, in theory only, the association's plan to operate the booths was passed. The chamber's support does not, however, include any funding.

Chamber director Anne Larcade asked that a letter of objection be sent to the Deputy Minister of Tourism. "It may be too late for this, but we can let him know we're not happy with the direction being taken."

Larcade says the cutbacks stem from the government's opinion of the importance of tourism. "Tourism is a low-profile portfolio," she said. When there are general spending cutbacks, tourism-related programs are among the first to go because they are considered to be the least important.

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally.

They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

Dysart ratepayer will foot higher share of schools levy

When the school board budget for 1989 is released this Spring, taxpayers in Dysart et al are going to find themselves paying a higher share than in the past years.

The Ontario Ministry of Education has recalculated the distribution of the school board budget among the ten municipalities in order to remove certain inequalities in the system.

Because many assessment rates are based on 1975 figures, they do not accurately reflect the large amount of growth in some municipalities.

Last year Dysart footed 32 per cent of Haliburton County's overall education bill.

According to the Ministry's new figures, a 36 per cent share more accurately reflects Dysart's recent growth.

In order to avoid a drastic jump in taxes the Ministry of Education is phasing in the new share ratio over a five-year period. This year the municipality will see an increase of a little more than one per cent in its share of the total education budget.

For taxpayers in Bicroft Township the new distribution will mean a reduction in the amount paid for education.

Last year Bicroft contributed 1.5 per cent to the school budget, this year they will only be required to pay 1.4 per cent. At the end of the five years they will only be paying one per cent.

Anson, Hindona and Minden, Monmouth, Glamorgan, Stanhope and Sherborne will all see their portion of the school budget go down. Along with Dysart, Cardiff, Snowdon and Lutterworth will all see increases.

A Coleman® cooler big enough for a house!

New 9+ S.E.E.R. Coleman® Cooler Air Conditioner

Wouldn't it be great if the trusty Coleman® cooler (ice chest) were big enough to cool a whole house? Its simple design, economical cost and efficiency are hard to beat when you have to cool off a watermelon or case of soft drinks.

That's why Coleman's Residential Heating and Air Conditioning Division didn't have to look far for a "role model" or a namesake, when they set out to build a new air conditioner with quality, efficiency and an affordable price.

The new 9+ SEER Coleman® Cooler Air Conditioner* uses advanced design and production techniques. That translates to a lower purchase price, quicker and simpler installation, faster service when needed, and...Coleman quality.

Do we want them?

Snowmobiles—ughh! They're noisy, they can be dangerous and the people who ride them cause us to have to wait in line at the grocery stores, gas stations and restaurants. Do we really want them in our peaceful Haliburton Highlands?

This is the sort of dialogue that is heard all too often from some intolerant residents. They like things kept quiet. Skiing and hiking are okay, they say, but leave your snowmobiles at the county line.

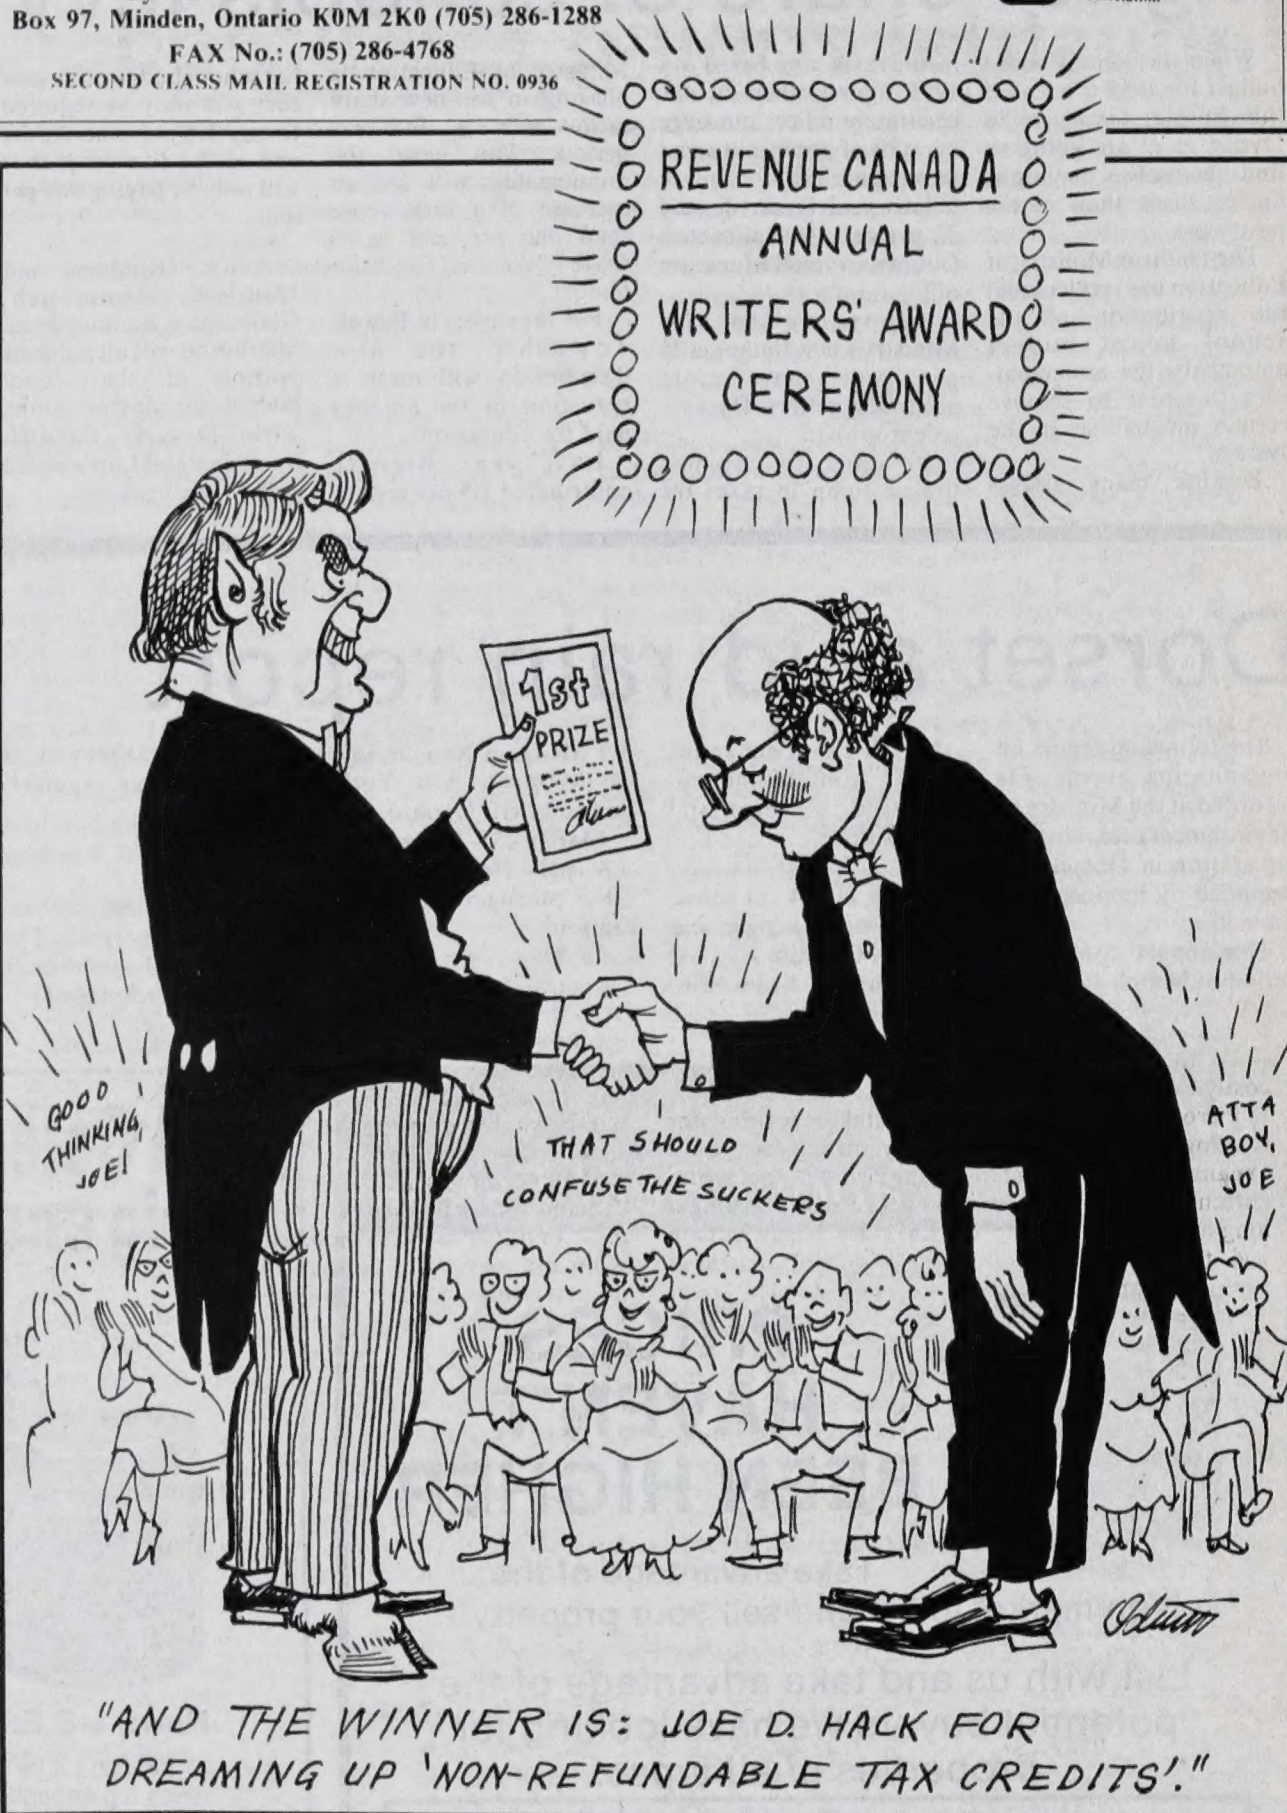

Fortunately, they are a minority. Most people here have come to accept snowmobiles as a fact of life—just like they accept motorboats on the lakes in the summer. Area merchants have to appreciate the amount of business that snowmobiling brings through their doors at a time of year that used to be considered the "off season".

In 10 short years, the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association has developed into the largest club of its kind in the world. At the same time they helped to create a tourism season to complement that which we enjoy in the summer.

It's plain to see what snowmobiling is doing for us from the level of activity in the area this winter. Now the HCSA is asking local businesses to return the favour with financial backing to upgrade its trails to accommodate the increasing amount of snowmobile traffic. They need to raise about $340,000 from business owners and municipalities in order to create a two-lane trail loop to better handle the number of sleds that pass over them each season.

Basically, the HCSA is asking us the same question as those who dislike snowmobiling. Do we want them in the Highlands? Do we want stores and restaurants to be busy throughout the winter? Do we want a winter tourism industry that could someday even rival that of the summer season?

The answer is a resounding yes.

Baby-faced war ministers

I'm glad Perrin Beatty isn't our Minister of Defence any more.

Not because he's incompetent or anything. Au contraire. Mister Beatty is a highly gifted, extremely able politician - quite possibly the sturdiest mushroom ever to bloom on the Tory compost heap.

No, what disqualifies Minister Beatty for the Defence portfolio is that one chilling physical deformity that stares back at you from every photograph ever taken of the man.

He's too good-looking for the job.

Baby-faced, actually. Anyone whose job description calls for them to play with guns and hob-nob with war hawks should appear a tad ... gritty. A Defence Minister ought to look pugnacious like Charles Bronson, or vulpine like Caspar Weinberger or hugely menacing like hedgehog-browed Brezhnev.

Hockey player Tiger Williams, with his scars and lumps and his deadpan you-wanna-settle-this-out-in-the-alley stare - that's the kind of look a Defence Minister needs.

The thought of the cherubic Perrin Beatty juggling MX missiles and troop displacements and lobbying nuclear submarines into our Arctic, all with that angelic, choir-boy smile on his face - seemed vaguely obscene to me.

Kind of like dressing Bambi in jungle fatigues.

But then it's an obscene business, the war game. Maybe that's what made the beatific Mister Beatty's participation so jarring. Industrial zoning too broad

Editor:

This is concerning our application by Mr. Vandenberg to change his rural property at Part Lot 21, Con. 9, Minden Township better known as the Blairhampton area, to industrial M1 zoning.

This property and the surrounding area are remarkable for its natural beauty and to consider creating a 50 acre industrial zone with all its many possible uses would be very distasteful. Even with certain limitations on the use of this land it would still be zoned industrial M1 which has 22 different possible uses.

Many people realize as I do that an industrial area is needed in Minden and the township will come up with a location acceptable to most people.

Many people run a small business from their rural or residential home in order to survive without creating any real change to the area. Anyone whose small business outgrows itself to the extent that it should be relocated to an appropriate industrial area should not be allowed simply to change their rural property to industrial. Convenient as it may be to them, it could be detrimental to others.

Anyone can have a planning study done by a reputable consultant if they have the finances, but this doesn't make the proposal any less wrong.

R. Cairns,
Minden.

Restraint too soon prolegomenon

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The recent economic growth enjoyed by Haliburton County is coming about five years too late.

The surge in local real estate prices and the record development occurring in most municipalities are spin-offs of the economic prosperity of southern Ontario but it is this prosperity which is now starting to cause problems for Haliburton.

With our expanding economy comes the need for costly capital expenditure. Examples of these needs are numerous: the Haliburton Hospital is waiting for funding to build an 18-bed continuing care unit; expansion of the Minden Hospital is the focus of a current study; Dysart is in the process of pursuing a long-awaited sewer line on Lake Kashagawigamog and the county is feeling the need for increased reservoir capacity to alleviate the summer water shortage in area lakes. The list of Haliburton's requirements is both long and costly but the federal and provincial governments have recently become committed to fighting their respective deficits and funding for capital expenditures is becoming increasingly scarce.

Roads departments, hospitals, school boards and fire departments have all been told that they will have to find other sources besides the province for money.

At a time when Haliburton most requires government help to upgrade municipal and county services the purse strings are drawing to a close.

Although the government has suggested that revenue raising devices such as lot levies could be used by municipalities to cover the shortfall in transfer payments and grants, these methods are better suited to southern Ontario than they are to Haliburton County. We are caught in the difficult situation of having to expand services to accommodate and attract rapid growth without having the financial resources necessary to fund the expansion.

This is not to suggest that the government coffers are an endless source of money. After all, it comes out of our pockets one way or another, but adequate support now would go a long way in reducing the need for continued over-dependence on provincial and federal help. The sooner we are able to accommodate our inevitable growth, the better we will be able to stand on our own.

Municipalities are barely able to keep up with the demand for their services. Five years from now they may find themselves stretched too thin trying to maintain roads, fire departments, landfill sites and utilities.

But if the federal government has recently threatened to pull the plug on VIA Rail passenger service because of the cost, what hope is there that they will enthusiastically spend the millions of dollars necessary to construct additional reservoir lakes to the benefit of a relatively small number of people?

There is no easy solution to this dilemma. It seems likely that local taxpayers will have to live with significant increases in municipal and education taxes for the next few years as local politicians do their best to sort out Haliburton's economic future without the adequate support of province or country.

Death is deceptive

by Edward Moll

Brenda died last weekend. This mother of two teenagers, this wife of the husband who cared, carried, caressed and cried as she wasted away from the tumour in her head, this friend, who, despite her pain and blindness never lost faith, always reached her concern beyond the breaking boundaries of her body. It made me wonder "What has God wrought?"

Her funeral plumbed the depths of sorrow, and joy and faith even as her life did. She died full of faith in the hope of the resurrection from the dead. She knew where she was going, and who she would meet when she got there. Her values were inextricably centered on the two greatest commandments; "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and soul and strength, and love your neighbour as yourself." She would take any opportunity to tell what Jesus had done for her, that even while she was wasting away outwardly, God was strengthening her inwardly.

As we were coming out of the parking lot following the procession to the graveside, I could not help but notice the extent of the development in this area just north of Toronto. Houses, houses and more houses. Excessively built, huge monstrosities within spitting distance of each other boasted presumptuous names for their "Neighbourhoods". As far as the eye could see this collective monument to our greed and desire for prestige stretched to the south. To the north lay fields meant to grow food, but destined to be raped by backhoes, bulldozers, basements and BMWs, while the breadlines continue to grow in the core of the city. A slow, hot anger began to smoulder in my gut.

I wasn't angry at all the evidence of that excessive consumption. That would have been useless, like being angry at yellow fingers when the real problem would be smoking. The real problem, you see, is death. Death has deceived us into thinking that the most important things to value are those which raise us up in status, pride, position, possessions before "our time comes" as we carefully say.

So real you can smell gunpowder

in bombs, rockets, warplanes, land mines and other flesh-shredding technology.

There's an ad in there from a company called BEI Defense Systems Co. extolling the virtues of a rocket that can knock enemy aircraft right out of the sky. The ad shows a panoramic wilderness scene of craggy mountains that could be the Canadian Rockies, with a clutch of Tom Thomson-ish jackpines silhouetted against the setting sun.

That's the peaceful part of the ad. Up above the landscape you can see a big assault helicopter all decked out in camouflage paint. It is in the process of being blown into tiny pieces of scrap by a BEI Defense Systems Co. rocket.

But here's the special feature of this glossy full-page advertisement: the whole illustration is covered with tiny plastic bubbles. Break one with your thumbnail and - Zowie! - yes, the actual smell of gunpowder.

Great Moments in Advertising: Scratch 'n Sniff brings you the smell of imminent violent death.

Typical American wretched excess you say? Don't feel too smug. In May, Ottawa hosts a cosy little garage sale called ARMX '89. Actually, there's nothing little about it. ARMX '89 is a huge international weapons show. Gun runners, Banana Republic generals, military 'advisors' and other assorted merchants of death will convene on the banks of the Rideau to kick the treads on the latest in military assault vehicles and discuss kill ratios with the helpful, courteous staff. Two hundred of the exhibiting firms will be Canadian.

And how does our own government feel about having a war bazaar nestled in its bosom? Delighted, thank you very much. The Feds may lack the gonads to speak up for simple human decency in the Salman Rushdie affair, but if it's guns and bombs you want to flog, the welcome mat is always out.

Does that sound bitter? Well, yeah, I am. I've got two kids. I don't care for the thought of half-witted hawks strutting around with nukes on their hips, dicing with the future of the planet.

But don't take a middle-aged Peacenik's word for it. Listen to an expert: "Every gun that is made, every warship launched, every rocket fired, signifies in a final sense, a theft from those who hunger and are not fed, from those who are cold and not clothed. This 'world in arms' is not spending money alone: it is spending the sweat of its labourers, the genius of its scientists and the hopes of its children."

I didn't say that. A general did.

Boyd heads industrial group

The job of following up on proposals to bolster Lutterworth Township's industrial and economic potential has been set in the lap of Councillor Maurice Boyd.

Boyd was asked last Tuesday to "keep the wheels moving" towards improving the township's ability to attract clean, light industry. Reeve Carol Puffer suggested that Boyd tackle this job because of his interest in this and his comparatively light workload on council.

In early March the township had a public meeting in co-operation with the Chamber of Commerce and the Development Corporation to brainstorm and come up with ideas to encourage the development of light industry in the municipality. A raft of ideas were discussed, but until now there was no one to follow this up.

"We had the meeting," said Reeve Puffer, "and there's the minutes and its back to square one. Unless someone is appointed, we'll have no progress."

One of the leading suggestions that came out of the original meeting was to investigate ways of developing the township's 30-acre industrial park. The township was far-sighted in designating a piece of property on Highway 121 as industrial land several years ago. However, no action was ever taken to develop the thickly-wooded property.

Boyd will be contacting representatives from neighbouring municipalities that have had success in developing industrial parks in an attempt to find out how this is best accomplished. He will also be contacting the Canada Employment Centre to find out if it has any programs in place that could provide the manpower to clear portions of the property.

Wanakita offers locals day camp

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Beginning this summer YMCA Camp Wanakita will be offering a day camp for the children living in the Haliburton and Minden areas.

The camp will run in eight one-week sessions beginning July 3 and ending on August 25. It is open to children ages five to thirteen at a cost of $95 a session.

Camp Director Steve Heming announced plans for the new camp to the Haliburton County Board of Education last week. He was seeking permission to present information about the camp to area schools.

Heming said the camp will offer a wide variety of activities including archery, canoeing, sailing and camping skills.

As well, during each of the five-day sessions there will be an overnight camp-out. Buses will be provided to transfer the children to the camp from various pick-up points in Minden and Haliburton.

The Wanakita Day Camp will be co-ordinated by Assistant Camp Director Dave Newnam. Heming said there will be one staff member for every three campers.

Registration forms for the camp are available and there will be an open house at the camp on the May 24 weekend where parents can register their children.

The trustees decided to allow Heming to make presentations about his camp for parents in school during the evening at the discretion of the principals.

I was angry at death. I was angry at our blindness that would allow us to be deceived, that makes things more important than people, that makes building our own houses more important than nurturing the life that God gives through worship, that makes administrative procedure more important than the care for the elderly in our community.

The more I thought on this, the more I thought how much we needed the values and the faith that Brenda had and shared. We can you know. After all, that is what Easter is about. Death is conquered, life is given, the possibility of forgiveness and healing and restoration is now here. Brenda did not live and die as if death had the final word. Neither did Jesus. Neither can we.

needed to bring the dual-lane trail into existence. Two new diesel powered groomers have already been ordered at a cost of $155,000, and a work crew of five to research, mark, cut and supervise the bulldozing of the 128 mile trail has been estimated to cost $20,000. The association says it already has funds or government support, for these two portions of the project.

What the HCSA needs is an injection of $164,500 to cover the cost of bridge building material, surveying and title searches, and the cost of bulldozing the 128 miles, estimated at $97,500. It is the $164,500 the association hopes local business and municipalities will provide to enable the project to proceed.

As Lester pointed out, this money will be earmarked for the new corridor loop project and does not take into account the regular maintenance costs of the five groomers currently operated by the HCSA or the association's ongoing operational expenses.

He pointed out, the bulldozed loop trail could be groomed daily by the two new groomers, freeing the five machines the HCSA already has to groom the feeder trails. As well, the additional machinery will allow time for routine maintenance of the grooming equipment, something that is a premium now and often must wait until a machine breaks down.

The corridor loop follows the existing trail network. Starting in Haliburton, it traces the abandoned rail line south to Howland Junction, west on the Old Iron Mine Road to the Prentice Trail then north to Minden, through Minden and north again on the Nesbitt Trail to Pine Springs. The route then heads east on the Peterson Trail, turning south near West Guilford and returning to the Pinestone/Wig-A-Mog area to link with the abandoned rail line at Lochlin. Several bridges along the route will require replacing or widening to accommodate the eight foot wide grooming equipment.

The HCSA spokesman asked the township representatives in attendance to be cooperative when the association requests the use of abandoned or unused concession lines. Lester noted, these routes eliminate problems related to securing private property access permission and the lines are often ideally suited for trail development because of existing roadbeds.

The association spokesman had praise for the volunteers who serve on the executive of the HCSA. He said they had given many hours of their personal time to nurture the growth of the organization and have often found their trail time to be limited because of the hours they have spent working to improve the trails for others. "In many ways the group that got together in 1971 has 'shot itself in the foot'", he commented. They created such a good trail network that it attracts hundreds of riders every day, thereby increasing their administrative responsibilities and reducing the time they can spend on the trails.

Suggesting that estimates of $8 to $10 million of revenue added to the local winter economy each year because of snowmobiling were conservative, Lester challenged the members of the business community to get behind the HCSA and help it upgrade the trail system so that the Highlands can maintain its position as one of the best snowmobiling venues in North America.

The HCSA has given the business community four weeks to take up the challenge. A follow-up meeting has been called for April 28 at the Minden council chambers. At that time, the organization will assess the response from the community and decide if it can proceed with this major upgrading of the trail system. Until then, the members of the HCSA executive can only hope their message has reached the group which benefits most from the trail system built by the association.

KEEPING CENTRAL ONTARIO INFORMED

With less than two minutes left on the clock and the scored deadlocked at 1-1, Minden's Chuck Hopkins popped in the game-winning goal to the delight of an enthusiastic home-town crowd in the Minden arena last Thursday. The Monarchs edged Haliburton in this, the fifth and deciding game of the Novice C final playoff series. Hopkins scored both of Minden's goals, and had his stick in on Haliburton's goal as well.

Novice C's win it all

Well it's been a back and forth effort both on and off the ice for Minden's Novice "C" team and the progressive Haliburton team. March 23 Haliburton came to Minden for the third game of what turned out to be a five game series. The scores were visibly narrower in these games and both teams seem equally suited to play competitively. They both provide exciting hockey and keep spectators guessing until the final buzzer goes. This was Haliburton's go ahead game with goals going to Ian Clements and Dan Jordan. Assists credited to Tobin Fitzgerald and Ian Clements. However, half way through the third period, Minden's Cameron Neville assisted by B.J. Redner, cancelled any shutout plans

Job potential jumps for arts students

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Students with a background in arts education have a 600 per cent greater chance of employment and one out of four jobs is arts related.

This is the message brought to the Haliburton County Board of Education by five members of the East Central Region Arts Advocacy Committee.

The committee members attended last Tuesday's board meeting to present their case for increased arts-related education to the trustees.

Committee chairman Rudolph Heijdens, a teacher for the Hastings Board of Education, told the trustees that an arts enriched curriculum will serve to enhance students' perception, awareness, concentration, uniqueness of thought, inventiveness and problem-solving.

Heijdens said the aims of the Arts Advocacy Committee are to increase awareness of the value of arts and to encourage their use in education, to promote education through the arts for all elementary and secondary students and to improve the quality of curriculae in the arts.

The Arts Advocacy Committee has prepared a list of recommendations it feels will assist boards of education in improving arts education. It is recommended that school boards establish an arts advisory committee whose mandate will be to develop and recommend to the board an arts policy regarding dance, dramatic arts, music and visual arts education within the schools in the board's jurisdiction.

The arts advisory committee should also work to develop and recommend to the board a plan to meet the objectives of the arts policy.

The policy recommended by Heijdens should cover such areas as staffing consideration, curriculum support materials, funding, special programs and community outreach.

The East Central Region is comprised of eleven boards of education including boards in Haliburton, Victoria and Peterborough, Counties and Durham Region.

Heijdens said the Haliburton Board of Education is the only board in the East Central Region without representation on the Arts Advocacy Committee. But, he said, this was due to the distance between Haliburton and the other boards involved in the project.

Although he was asking for support of arts education, Heijdens stressed that he was not asking the trustees for money. "We leave that up to you," he said. "When the attitude is there, the money is there."

In 1985 the Ministry of Education released an action paper entitled, "The Arts in Ontario Schools". The paper emphasized the importance of arts in a balanced curriculum and Heijdens said it is rumoured that arts advisory committees may become mandatory for school boards.

He said the ECRAAC did not intend to write arts-based curriculum but would instead, help school boards develop a program suited to their particular needs.

Quick thinking saves duo from drink

Two snowmobilers narrowly escaped tragedy on March 26 when they were rescued by nearby cottagers after falling through the ice at the south end of Gull Lake.

John Posta, 25, of Hamilton, and Peter Van Leeuwen, 32, of Pickering, were snowmobiling on the lake early that Sunday when they took a wrong turn and plunged into the open water.

This is the same area and circumstances that caused the deaths of two people just over a year earlier. Fortunately, Laura Colby of Ajax heard the snowmobile go into the water, and with help was able to prevent a repeat of that tragedy.

John McNamee, of Markham, used a sailboard and snow shovel to get to the reluctant swimmers. And when they were towed close enough to shore, Glen Peters and David Cruickshank waded into the water to pull Posta and Van Leeuwen out.

Police credit the quick thinking of the four rescuers for this life-saving episode. "Quick thinking by these four persons prevented a sure tragedy."

Shoppers in downtown Minden on March 24 were greeted by two cuddly Easter Bunnies who were in town passing out chocolate eggs and lots of hugs for the kids. The bunnies also made their way up to Hyland Crest to deliver some Easter cheer to the residents. The Minden BIA was responsible for arranging the visit from the bunnies.

HHSS students welcome French visitors

A group of students from Narbonne, France received a first hand lesson in Canadian geography when they visited the Highlands last week.

The 28 teenagers and four teachers believed they would be staying close to Toronto when they booked their stay at Camp Kandalore. Perhaps it was because Minden and Toronto appeared so close on the map, or perhaps it was the lack of understanding as to how vast Canada really is. Whatever the reason, the group was surprised to learn that their accommodations were some three and a half hours from downtown Toronto.

The miscalculation proved not to be in vain however, as they discovered a part of Canada they certainly would not have found in downtown Toronto and made new friends in the Highlands of Haliburton.

Two of the students, Philippe Millet and Alexandre Icart, both 15, told The Times they have enjoyed their stay in the Highlands. Although they were not equipped for the winter conditions, they did have a chance to try their hand at cross-country skiing, tobogganing and were involved in the co-operative games program at the camp.

Their stay also included a visit at the Huntsville High School and HHSS where they spent a day with their Canadian counterparts. The visit to the Highlands school included an opportunity for senior French students to test their language skills as they acted as hosts during the day. The French visitors were invited to individual student's homes for Friday supper and returned to the school that evening for a dance.

In addition to their stay at the camp, the students spent time horseback riding and visiting the Frost Centre to observe the maple syrup processing.

Despite the fact they found themselves in the Canadian wilderness, the French students did get a chance to experience the urban side of the country. A number of side-trips included visits to Niagara Falls, the CN Tower, the Royal Ontario Museum, the Science Centre and the Eaton Centre.

Stu Mills, left, was one of a number of HHSS students to act as hosts when a group of youths from Narbonne France visited the school last week. The youths were on a two week visit to Canada during which time they stayed at Camp Kandalore north of Minden. Philippe Millet, right, and Alexandre Icart, were among 28 students and four teachers on the trip. Their day at HHSS included a visit to a number of classes, a tour of the school, dinner Friday night at individual students' homes and a dance Friday evening.

Trade shows spark interest

The attention to the Haliburton Highlands booth at the Sportsman Show in Toronto was so great this year that more than 11,000 of the new promotional booklets were handed out.

Of the 12,500 books that were printed just prior to the week-long show, only 1,000 were left to bring back to Haliburton, Shirley Rapson reported during last Thursday's Chamber of Commerce meeting at the Dysart Township office.

Rapson, chamber manager, said the people at this year's show didn't seem to want to spend as much time talking with those at the booths. She said they seemed to know what they wanted. They picked up the literature and moved on.

Rapson has been especially busy in recent weeks promoting the Highlands at trade shows. She attended shows in Buffalo, Syracuse, Rochester and Binghamton, New York. She says this series of shows is improving and she feels her attendance there may help better promote this area in the U.S.

Brian Watts said he has already had guests at Rips Sleepy Hollow, who learned about the area through one of these shows. He said six snowmobilers were at his resort last week and mentioned they had learned about the great snowmobiling to be had here from Rapson.

Watts also suggested that more money is needed from County Council as an incentive for area resorts to participate in these shows. "To supply good representation from the county we have to have more than 10 people," he said.

With the cost of renting a small booth at the Sportsman Show running about $500, only 10 resorts attended this year. They were Homestead Tent and Trailer Park, Rip's Sleepy Hollow, the Pinestone, the Wig-amog, Silver Eagle, Willow Beach Cottages, Sandy Lane, Lora Lea, Hospitality Inn and Pine Grove Point.

Ray Moore, who in addition to being a director in the chamber is also a member of county council, said the county had to struggle to keep its budget under control this year. The chamber's request for $78,000 had to be trimmed by $8,000.

Moore, however, noted that the chamber budget is not locked in for a three-year period as it has been in the past. This gives the chamber a chance to ask for another increase next year.

With the ground still frozen solid when the rain began to fall last Tuesday, there was just nowhere for the all the water to go. Dozens of roads were washed out and hundreds of basements were flooded from this day-long storm. This section of Horseshoe Lake Road in front of Bruce Swinson's house was one of the worst examples of flooding. Swinson's house (not shown in the photograph) was completely surrounded by water, the road was flooded over and the field on his neighbour's property was like a small lake.

Board okays exchange for HHSS musicians

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School band has been given approval by the board of education to participate in an exchange with Waterford District High School.

The Haliburton students will travel to Waterford on April 30 and stay until May 3 and the Waterford students will visit Haliburton from May 24 to May 27.

In order to offset the costs of the trip, the Haliburton students held a bottle drive across the country on Saturday, April 1 and will be holding a car wash on Saturday May 20.

Dysart trustee Wayne Wood expressed concern about the possibility of an incident involving drinking like the one that marred last year's Calgary trip.

Education Director Stuart Baker said there was no way to guarantee such problems would not arise but stressed the teachers would take all possible precautions to prevent it.

During last year's trip to a band competition in Calgary a student had to be sent home after he was caught drinking. In referring to the incident, Wood called it, "a slap in the face" for the board.

Baker said the trips are well supervised and as long as the incidents are isolated and the problem is not wide-spread he would hate to have such activities curtailed.

FOREST FIRES BURN MORE THAN TREES

During 1988, 61 forest fires occurred in the Haliburton and Minden areas. The months of April and May are the most dangerous time. Dead grass and leaves will allow a fire to spread very quickly resulting in the potential loss of life, dwellings and forested land.

Before you burn your grass, brush or debris, remember these important points:

1. You must obtain a fire permit;
2. Ensure that a responsible person tends the fire;
3. Keep the fire under control;
4. Upon completion, put your fire dead out. Even if it appears to be out, stir it, and drown it with water, again and again, until you're sure it is out.

 FIRE PERMITS ARE FREE OF CHARGE ***

During the fire season (April 1st to October 31st) the Forest Fires Prevention Act requires you to obtain a permit to be kept at the burning site and shown to an officer upon request. If you don't, you could be fined up to $1,000.00, imprisonment up to three months and liable for any costs and expenses involved in extinguishing a resulting fire.

and left a final score 2 - 1 Haliburton.

March 28 we were in Haliburton for a 7 p.m. face off. Tonight was either lose it all or make a comeback. Both teams kept a pretty tight rein on each other and play travelled back and forth from one end to the other. With 8 seconds left in the first period, Cameron Neville took a pass from Redner and managed to find a secure spot for the puck deep in Haliburton's net.

Both teams pursued and attacked, but due to calmness and concentration, as well as excellent defensive assistance, both goalies, Minden's Shane Flood, and Haliburton's Kevin Harrison, deflected further attempts to score. Final score 1 - 0 Minden.

Game 5

Haliburton returned to Minden March 30 for the fifth and final game which started on a very low key for Minden's team. A breakaway by Haliburton's Dan Jordan at the six minute mark of the first resulted in a scramble in front of Minden's goalie Shane Flood, and resulted in Minden's Chuck Hopkins inadvertently slipping the puck in his own net while attempting to clear it. This gave Haliburton a number on the board and fortunately Hopkins the redeeming determination.

Both teams kept it tight, and back and forth for the remainder of the first until six seconds on the clock when Hopkins did it again down in the Haliburton end. Score tied 1 - 1.

Haliburton took advantage of every opportunity to pepper it at Flood, but calmness and concentration was on his side and he shut down anything coming his way. Nobody could put another one inside his 6 x 4 square.

With 1:47 left in the third, Hopkins came on again on a breakaway and placed the go ahead goal inside Haliburton's net safe and secure. Final score 2 - 1 Minden.

This was a very exciting playoff series as both teams are very evenly matched and always provided an exciting game. Haliburton has proved to be Minden's top adversary and have certainly displayed commendable effort and style in their games. Thanks Haliburton for some great hockey.

Special mention goes to each and every player on Minden's Novice C team for their hard playing this year. This is the second year the boys have played together and have certainly changed the stats from last year. They are a team to be proud of and have worked hard for their trophy.

Thanks to all the dedicated parents who have relentlessly given of time and effort to support the boys and assist them in all ways.

Last but not least, a very special thanks to coaches Bill Little and Brian Neville for their effortless coaching and encouragement. These men dedicated many hours coaching the boys and I am sure they are as proud of them just as every other parent is. We had one extra father on the ice this year during every practice and recognition of Mel Flood's work with his son Shane, our goalie, has certainly been obvious by Shane's performance on the ice.

Thanks to all. It's been a great season and lots of fun.

Novices win in Gravenhurst

Game number one of this tournament on Saturday March 25, saw Minden against Osprey II.

Minden started strong in this game keeping constant pressure on the Osprey goalie. This resulted in a 2-0 lead with goals by Donald Todd and Seamus Donnery - both unassisted. In the second period Todd added a third goal assisted by Donnery and Anderson. The third period saw Donnery score a fourth goal assisted by Anderson and Casey. Osprey scored late in the game to steal goalie Ashley Walker's shut-out but it was too little too late.

The second game which was on Sunday was also against an Osprey team. Minden was a little tight at the start of the game and it wasn't until the final seconds of the first period that Ryan Anderson opened the scoring assisted by Donnery and Todd. The second period belonged to Anderson who caught fire scoring three goals. Assisting on these goals were Casey on two, Todd on two and Carpenter and Donnery with one each.

Minden displayed some super penalty killing in the third period playing two men short for over two minutes. Goalie Walker played great in goal earning his shut-out.

The stage was set for the championship game against Rebekah, Gravenhurst's top team. Minden got off to a strong start with a goal by Todd, assisted by Donnery and Ripley and a goal by Daniels assisted by Casey and Donnery. Gravenhurst narrowed the score late in the second, only to have Minden come back immediately on a goal by Donnery assisted by Todd. Late in the third period Gravenhurst scored again making it 3-2 with five minutes left. Minden held off a very determined Gravenhurst attack to claim the championship.

Minden was full value for their wins against very good competition.

Goalie Ashley Walker's play was superb in all three games and the defence of Casey, Camelon and Ripley did a great job shutting down attacks. Forwards Donnery, Anderson and Todd supplied most of the scoring punch while Daniels and Carpenter checked like fiends. All in all, it was a successful tournament and a super team effort.

Government working to put dent in deficit

by Bill Scott, M.P.

Since September 1984, the government has worked to cut the deficit. From a record $38-billion in 1984, the deficit was reduced to $29-billion last year.

The deficit is the difference between what the government spends in a year and what it collects in revenue. For every dollar that the government collects, it spends $1.28.

The deficit is equal to $1,100 per Canadian. Imagine that each person in your family spent $1,100 more than they earned every year. It would not take long to build up a rather large debt, and you would soon find yourself spending more and more on interest.

Money borrowed by the federal government is not available to finance the building of new homes and factories, so you and the company you work for must pay higher rates of interest when you borrow from the bank. The federal deficit is equal to the money that would have to be borrowed to build $100,000 homes for 290,000 families.

Each year's deficit must be financed by borrowing more money. The net national debt is now $321-billion. The higher the debt the higher the interest costs. Money that you spend to pay interest on your mortgage or car loan cannot be used to pay for other things. The government's money works the same way.

Today, one out of every four dollars Ottawa spends goes to pay interest on the debt. It is becoming very difficult to find money for new programs. If interest costs continue to rise, it could become harder and harder to pay for existing programs.

The federal government now spends more money on interest payments than on Old Age Security, Guaranteed Income Supplements, Spouses Allowance, Housing, Health, Education, and Family Allowances combined.

It is always easy to say the government spends more on one thing or another. However, Ottawa is already spending $132-billion a year. You pay some of that directly because of income taxes. You pay some of it indirectly because of federal sales and excise taxes. You pay some of it when corporate taxes result in lower wages, lower dividends and higher prices. And you will pay some of it (with interest) tomorrow because of government borrowing today. Federal spending is equal to more than one fifth of what we produce as a nation.

Responsible financial management has been a priority of our government from the beginning. We have acted to bring down the deficit in a gradual, steady manner. Spending has only increased with inflation. Revenues have risen at a faster rate than spending because of a strong economy.

By taking further deficit-reducing actions in the upcoming federal budget, we will be able to maintain and improve our social programs in the future, and to keep our economy strong and competitive.

Caterpillars, moths

Infestations continue to strip trees

In 1988 insect infestations continued to defoliate trees and to be an even greater nuisance to the people throughout the Minden District. Large numbers of forest tent caterpillar and bruce spanworm were observed in many areas. The gypsy moth was seen by a number of people for the first time in Haliburton County. Its population is increasing but its presence was overshadowed last year by the large numbers of forest tent caterpillar. Those people facing bruce spanworm, however, were fortunate to have the small green worms disappear quickly and do little damage. A naturally occurring virus spread through the infestation rapidly, killing off large numbers before they had time to cause any significant defoliation. We shouldn't see the spanworm again in large numbers for several years. The forest tent caterpillar was in its second year of population growth.

Pockets of infestation in 1987 joined together in 1988 to form a large area covering most of the Minden District. Defoliation ranged from moderate to severe with hard maple, oak and poplar being the hardest hit. Nearing the end of their larval stage, the caterpillars began wandering in hordes across the ground and onto buildings. Then they built yellowish coloured cocoons in which to pupate and eventually emerge as adult moths. The tan coloured moths continued the cycle by mating and laying eggs to hatch this spring.

Caterpillars wander Highlands in hordes

It is possible to predict the extent of an infestation by observing the number of egg bands found on the trees. The Forest Insect and Disease Survey Unit of the Canadian Forestry Service has surveyed our area and its forecast, based on the high number of egg bands found, suggests that we will again be inundated with the caterpillars this spring. You can predict the extent of the caterpillars on your own property by examining the small healthy twigs, on the preferred host trees, where the egg bands are laid. They appear as small, black foamy bands approximately 12 millimetres (1/2 inch) long, encircling the twig. Each egg band contains approximately 150 eggs. As a very rough guide, 10 to 20 bands on a host tree, 8-15 metres (25 to 50 feet) tall, represents a heavy infestation.

While looking for the forest tent caterpillar egg bands you might also look for gypsy moth egg masses. These are oval shaped patches, about 4 centimetres (1 1/2 inches) in length with a slightly raised surface. They are usually beige in colour and slightly hairy, resembling a small piece of chamois. The egg masses may be found in bark crevices, on the underside of branches and on or under rocks, buildings, outdoor furniture, trailers and vehicles. They can be destroyed by scraping them off and burning or crushing them.

The forest tent caterpillar egg bands can be disposed of in the same manner, by scraping them off the twigs or clipping the twigs. Destruction of the eggs, however, is only practical on small isolated trees, not in large trees or stands.

A loss of leaves from caterpillar defoliation does not mean a tree will die. Most trees will produce a second, less dense set of leaves in five or six weeks.

Infestations of forest tent caterpillars develop every 10-12 years with the last one occurring in the Minden District in 1977. After 3-4 years the infestation collapses as a result of natural factors and controls, consisting of parasites, viral disease starvation and weather.

Sub-zero camping fun

by Marion Strebig,

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Have you ever camped out in -40 degree C? Last week, on a Federation of Ontario Naturalists membership trip to the Temagami area, I did. Once we had parked on a sideroad east of Highway 11, about 10 miles south of the town of Temagami, we skied into a lake just north of the Nipissing Crown Game Preserve. Our leader and guide, Bob Groves, had set up winter camp for us on the lake.

What astonished me was the speed with which, after leaving Highway 11, we came to untravelled land. The only path was the path broken for us by Bob's sled loaded with our heavy gear, pulled by five Alaskan malamutes. All weekend we found the same thing; the only tracks we saw were animal tracks or our own.

We were entering rugged terrain of cattail and speckled alder marsh and mixed forest of spruce, white pine and birch. Steep escarpments which white pine have managed to climb, rose sharply above the lake. As we travelled, Bob pointed out stands of balsam fir which were black skeletons, victims of the spruce budworm. Balsam is their preferred food tree.

Bob believes that the number of dead balsam has affected the beaver population. Dead balsam on the forest floor inhibit new growth, at least initially. This includes aspen saplings, a favourite food of the beavers, and usually one of the first trees to appear in a naturally regenerating area.

Bob automatically notes all changes in habitat because he is also a licensed trapper, and we were travelling in the area of Crown land he has been assigned for his traplines. The number of beaver houses here has dropped from a high of 75 in 1982 to about one-third that number this winter. The beavers will come back, but not until there is sufficient new growth of food species to support them. Meanwhile Bob has severely limited his take of beaver.

Our sleeping place for the weekend was a large tent with a firepit dug out at one end for the small woodstove which kept us cozy at night. Bob had layered the sleeping platform with spruce boughs covered with several tarpaulins. I have to confess that this kind of camping was not really rugged; in fact, we

New legislation for physically challenged drivers

by John Eakins

Just before the Legislature recessed for a short spring break, my colleague the Honourable Ed Fulton, Minister of Transportation, recently introduced new legislation to give physically challenged motorists a portable parking permit.

A series of amendments to the Highway Traffic Act was also tabled in the Legislature to curb unsafe bicyclists and to protect small children in automobiles. These legislative changes will both ensure a greater safety and encourage greater access to those who drive vehicles or bicycles in Victoria - Haliburton.

The portable disabled person's parking permit must be displayed on the sun visor or dashboard. It will replace the disabled symbol licence plate now issued by the ministry and permits issued by municipalities. The portable permit, which was requested by organizations representing physically challenged drivers or passengers who use more than one vehicle. Eligible persons can transfer the permit to any vehicle.

This new system will reduce present abuses of the disabled licence plate system because medical certification will be required when individuals apply for the new permit. Companies or organizations transporting physically challenged persons may also apply.

An interministerial working group has developed a model bylaw that will include technical guidelines for size, signing and placement of parking spaces in parking lots for physically challenged persons. The model bylaw will encourage constituency and uniformity across the province, while still allowing municipalities to tailor their own disabled parking programs to suit local circumstances.

The bicycle amendments to the Highway Traffic Act confirm that a bicycle is a vehicle subject to the same rules of the road as other motor-powered vehicles. The amendments also require that bicyclists who are in apparent contravention of the law must stop at the request of a police officer, and identify themselves.

Additional requirements of the amendments are that bicycles have adequate brakes and must be walked, not ridden, across pedestrian crosswalks.

Another safety provision of the proposed amendments will reduce the number of small children travelling on laps or in the cargo area of vehicles. Drivers will be responsible for ensuring that children weighing under 23 kilograms occupy any available seats fitted with seat belts.

Fun and fitness starts day

Hi Senior League Readers:

March 23 started with fun and fitness. At 1 o'clock Rev. Dawn Gilby had Easter Communion service and she remained for our tea party which was served by the Allsaw Pentecostal Church ladies. The residents appreciate this very much.

In the event, thanks to Pastor Fast, we had 7 singers and a conductor from Indonesia who sang hymns in the English language and played instruments made of bamboo. They were all dressed in clothing of cloth similar to our cotton. They spoke fluent English and were very friendly.

Thursday I went with Terry and Norma Barnum to Brampton for the Wednesday from Haliburton.

Tuesday afternoon we were shown slides in the auditorium. The wife of a teacher at Archie Stouffer School, here on exchange from New South Wales, Australia showed the slides as well as telling us different aspects of all of Australia. Her name is Wendy Ellis from Queenbeyan in New South Wales. She showed us their flag and a map showing the seven provinces and in what areas the population is mainly settled. Their main problems here in Canada are: the snow, driving on the opposite side of the road and cooking with our flour. She gave each of us a book mark with Australian flowers pictured on it as a memento of her visit. We enjoyed this very much.

Logging clears areas for wildlife habitat

Openings left in the forest as a result of logging operations can become valuable wildlife habitat. During any timber harvesting operation areas of bush are cleared to provide log landings and haul roads. These openings are the first to green up in the spring and the lush green plant life in and around these openings provide a wide variety of food types for wildlife species such as ruffed grouse, black bear and white tailed deer.

Each spring staff from the Minden office of the Ministry of Natural Resources seed and fertilize a number of these sites. During the winter months local areas that are being logged are visited by Natural Resources staff and at this time sites are selected for later treatment.

This year 14 log landings and six kilometres of haul road in Hindon township will be seeded. The work is being done in close proximity to the Hindon deer yard but will benefit many wildlife species. A grass clover seed mixture is used to help establish good wildlife food. The grasses act as a nurse crop and help the clover to become established. In addition to providing food for wildlife the seeding project helps to prevent erosion on sites which have been left bare as a result of being cleared.

For further information on the wildlife seeding project and the wildlife management program in the Minden District please contact the local Ministry of Natural Resources Office on Highway 35 at Minden, (705) 286-1521.

"WHERE THE ACTION IS"

Gray Jays were constant companions

were coddled. For eating and lounging we had Bob's trapline cabin where he cooked porridge and pancakes to see us through the cold days, and hearty stews for our evening meals.

Our constant companion at the tent and around the cabin where Bob had put out a feeder, was the Gray Jay, that cheeky and appealing scrounger of the northern woods. On the whole, though, we saw few birds and animals. Our arrival coincided with a weather front. Over the weekend the temperature dropped from 0 degrees C to -40 degrees C. In the resulting unsettled weather both animals and birds sought shelter. Bob, speaking from experience, told us that they were likely to stay put for up to three days.

Sunday, after the passage of the front, dawned clear and cold, the sky scrubbed blue without the sign of a cloud. We set out for a day-long ski, hoping to see some of the creatures of the northern woods. But we saw little life. However, thanks to Bob's well-trained eye, we found plenty of signs of animal activity. Along the portage path we found marten tracks and the snow burrow it had dug to snooze away the storm.

However, at the creek where last week Bob told us there had been open water and otter slides and tracks, all was covered and silent, except for two amorous ravens. The sight of their spectacular aerial chase antics reminded us that spring was close, in spite of the bite in the air. Their young will be fledged by the time most other birds are just beginning to nest.

Following the meander of the creek we came on the purposeful digressions of a fresh fox track, perfect single step with no foot drag, rear legs stepping into the front tracks. Later on the lake we came on another track, heavier and less elegant, which Bob thought was a fisher. This ferocious little beast is not nearly as common as the marten because it requires a much larger territory.

But Sunday night provided the spectacle that for most of us will set the weekend apart. After the long day outside most of us were comatose around the cabin fire when Bob called us out to come and see the northern lights.

"You won't see a display like this again in your lifetime," he told us. And he was right. Great candles of light flickered up from the horizon to meet in a glowing vault at the peak of the heavens. The fingers of light dimmed and faded and then crackled into life again like some giant celestial fireworks display. And the colours. In the Arctic I am told that displays can range from green through blue to red, but I believe such colour is comparatively rare this far south. The greens were there, but coming and going like a facial blush was a deep red. Even Bob said that he had only seen red like that one other time.

Perhaps it was the fireworks, but that night, the -40 degree C night, I slept better than I have slept for some time. If you would like to find out more about tripping with Bob & Kathy Groves, write to Ogama Outfitter, Box 37, Temagami, Ontario, P0H 2H0. For more information about other FON trips write to Marion Strebig at the FON.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to our many friends and neighbours for all their kindness shown us in the loss of a dear son and grandson, Darrell Walker. Our thanks to the Doctors at Oshawa General Hospital, to relatives, friends and neighbours for food at home and for the after funeral lunch at the Minden Arena auditorium, also the fine girls who so kindly served the lunch. Dear friends. I returned home this weekend for a few weeks and I am open for visits any time. I would like to thank all the kind neighbours who brought goodies, and all the dear friends and family who showered me with so many lovely flowers, nighties and bed jackets. To the L.A. from Br. 129 Haliburton for the gorgeous basket of fruit. And the cards! So many of them! I never before knew what a cheery card can do for one's day. Thanks to the Seniors Curling Club for their cards, zone F4 RCL, and all those cards from the branches throughout the Zone, I read them regularly and catch a new name everytime. I wish to express a special thank you to Betty, Isobel, Everett and Mabel for kindnesses rendered. Many thanks.
